MORE STREET WORK

GLENDALE AVENUE, FROM FIRST TO VERDUGO, TO BE IMPROVED

Glendale avenue, from First street to Verdugo road, is to be improved. This will be a very great advantage to those who use that thoroughfare. It is one of the oldest thoroughfares in the city. It has always been the main street leading from Broadway to Verdugo canyon and the back country around La Crescenta, La Canada, Monte Vista and Littlelands. This road has been traveled for thirty years and during all that time it has never been improved. "Now and then," said Mr. T. W. Watson, city manager, "a load of gravel has been thrown upon it. The gravel has sunk down with great regularity into the soil and the surface has remained in dust in the summer and mud in the rainy season.

"During the last two years that portion of the street from Oakwood north to Verdugo road has been dedicated as a public highway. The Salt Lake Railway company has agreed to relocate its tracks so as to form a double track with the Glendale - Montrose road. These tracks will be in the center of the road from First to Oakwood. The entire width of the road will be 50 feet between the curbs.

"From Oakwood north both roads have private rights of way. From that point the road will parallel the Salt Lake railway to Verdugo road. The roadway will be 24 feet wide. When this road shall have been completed from First to Verdugo it will be the finest piece of macadamizing in the city. The macadam will be six inches thick. This improvement has long been contemplated but on account of the ownership conditions could not be approached. Its completion will mark a further advance in the development of Glendale.

"The second part of the double track on Broadway, from Glendale avenue to the Child's tract, is being laid with great rapidity. The fact that the workmen have the advantage of the first track on which to bring out their ties, rails and other material is advancing the work very speedily. The cars will very soon be running in this direction and the residents of the section thus opened up are already beginning to realize how much benefit this improvement is to bring to their property.

"Poles for the overhead trolley wire were unloaded all along the new track today. They will be erected as soon as possible and will be in position, in all probability, by the time the track has been completed. The track is already almost finished to the other end, where it enters the Child's tract. Ground there was deeded for a depot and park and it is hoped that the tract there will be beautified and some temporary, neat station erected.

CRUELTY TO AN ANIMAL

Some person who has little sense of kindness to animals tied an old white horse to a post, at the back of Macdonald's Transfer barn, in the alley opposite the Fire House on Broadway. The animal was left there all Thursday night, all Friday and all Friday night, without attention and without food or water. The attention of the police was called to the matter and Chief Herald took the unfortunate animal to the Glendale Stables on Glendale avenue, where the animal is being attended to pending investigation.

TO DESTROY WEEDS

Parties who have employed others to destroy the weeds on their property are reminded that the work must be done to the satisfaction of the civic authorities, otherwise the city will step in and complete the job. In many cases it is noticeable that while the shorter grass and weeds have been burned off, tall weeds and bushes of various kinds have been left standing scorched and ugly. This is not satisfactory to the city and all who have employed others to destroy weeds and are not satisfied with the manner in which the work has been done or are in doubt about it are requested to notify the city authorities before paying for the work. Citizens are also again reminded that weeds must be destroyed on the parkings as well as on the lots themselves.

MOTHERS' STUDY CIRCLE

The Mothers' Study Reading Circle will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Pacific Avenue school. The reading of the book, "Misunderstood Children," will be completed.

HOLDING BACK MAIL

FEELING IN CENTRAL AMERICA AGAINST UNITED STATES CITIZENS IS STRONG

According to accounts received from Central America the feeling against citizens of the United States is very strong. Should war break out between this country and Mexico it may be expected that that feeling will become intensified and that many Americans who have property and businesses in the central republics will lose them.

Dr. F. T. Peck, son of C. E. Peck of 848 Pacific avenue, who has been down in Honduras for some years, has just had experience of the hostility of the natives to the foreigner, who is assisting them to open up their country. Dr. Peck is connected with the Honduras Railway company as purchasing agent, and in the course of his duties is compelled to come in contact with many government officials. There seems no doubt that he incurred the hostility of some of these government magnates.

Last September his father received a letter from him in which he stated that he had been meeting with constant opposition and hostility on the part of the native officials and population, whose jealously of him on account of the position he holds with the railway was growing more pronounced daily. Dr. Peck stated that he would be sorry to give up his position and also to leave the large tract of land which he had bought in the interior. This land, he said, would ultimately become very valuable, as the new railway passes through it.

That was the last letter received from Dr. Peck for many months. His father wrote him and waited in vain for an answer. Thinking that he was probably settling up his affairs before coming out of Honduras his father was not alarmed at not hearing from him; but as time went on and no letter came he thought it time to take some action. Having exhausted the ordinary methods of inquiry he bethought him of applying to Congressman Randall, who immediately put inquiry on foot and interested the postmaster general and secretary of state in the affair. Ultimately Congressman Randall telegraphed Mr. Peck that it has been ascertained that his son was quite safe and at his duties with the railroad.

It was ascertained that the Honduras officials had been opening foreign letters and in some cases destroying them. This had apparently happened to Dr. Peck's letters and he, fearing that something was wrong, sent a letter by a friend who was going to the United States. This letter was mailed in New Orleans and reached here shortly after Congressman Randall had wired Mr. Peck of his son's safety.

The incident shows the feeling in the Latin-American countries at this time. It also demonstrates the necessity of not concluding at once that friends in those countries have neglected to write as in the unsettled conditions now prevailing letters are probably held up everywhere. Even the regulations of the General Postal Union have not always power over the smaller republics.

SERVICES AT SAN FERNANDO

A large auto wagon left Glendale this morning from the Seventh Day Adventist church carrying about thirty members of the church, many of them employes in the Sanitarium, to the Sabbath services at the great camp at San Fernando. Saturday being the Adventist sabbath, there will be a very large attendance at the camp gathering. The Rev. J. B. Thompson, one of the leading Adventists of Washington, D. C., will preach. The auto-wagon will leave again in the evening at 6 o'clock to convey another party to the evening service, when Dr. P. T. Magin will speak on "The Vatican and the War." Anyone desiring to go to the camp meeting is welcome to go with the party.

HIT BY MOTOR TRUCK

Norman Mumma, 1409 Neola St., Eagle Rock, while riding his wheel, in the vicinity of Sixth and Brand, Friday morning about 9 o'clock, was hit by a motor truck. The impact of the collision threw the boy to the ground and fortunately out of the way of the wheels of the truck, so that he was not seriously injured. The truck smashed the front wheel of the bicycle and broke the handlebars. Young Mumma was badly shaken up. He thought he had noted the number of the truck and reported it as No. 179,309. On examination of the records no such number was found.

MILITIA TO MOVE TO THE BORDER

WAR DEPARTMENT INDICATES THAT VARIOUS STATE TROOPS WILL ENTRAIN AT ONCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Orders were issued by the War Department this morning for the Wisconsin, Kansas and Missouri militia to entrain at once. It is expected that the three bodies will move early today or tomorrow. All national guard organizations have been ordered to proceed immediately to the Mexican border as soon as they are ready to move. War has not yet been formally declared and President Wilson still hopes that it may be averted.

SUBMARINE CAPTURES BRITISH STEAMER

GERMAN UNDERSEA BOAT MANAGES TO TAKE MERCHANTMAN INTO TEUTON BASE AT ZEEBRUGGE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, June 24.—A German submarine attacked a British vessel this morning. The merchantman was caught unawares and after the captain and crew had been ordered to get into their boats and had abandoned the ship, the Germans attached a cable to the vessel and towed it into Zeebrugge, the German naval base in Belgium.

AMERICAN AIRMAN LOSES HIS LIFE

AVIATOR CHAPMAN DOWNS TWO FOKKERS BUT LOSES LIFE IN THIRD ENCOUNTER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, June 24.—The famous American aviator Chapman was killed this morning. Chapman was in the very midst of the severe fighting which has characterized the recent German attack at Verdun. He engaged several German Fokkers and downed two of them; but a shot from a third penetrated his petrol tank and he himself was also wounded. The machine came crashing to the ground.

FRENCH RECAPTURE GERMAN TRENCHES

GEN. NIVELLE'S MEN DRIVE TEUTONS OUT OF POSITIONS TAKEN LAST NIGHT

PARIS, June 24.—Gen. Nivelle's men, overborne at the first onset last night of an overwhelming German attack, which covered a front of more than three miles, have wrested the captured positions again from the Teutons. The German attack exceeded in strength and fury any that has yet been launched. The Germans suffered enormous losses, the French machine guns taking hideous toll of the crowded Teuton ranks. After the fury of the assault had subsided Gen. Nivelle prepared his counter attack and succeeded in driving the Teutons out of Fleury and out of most of the positions they had succeeded in occupying. The fighting is still proceeding.

PACKER RALLY

FRIENDS OF GLENDALE CANDIDATE PLAN MEETING AT LA CANADA

The friends and supporters of Stephen C. Packer, who is a candidate for supervisor for Los Angeles county in the Fifth Supervisoral district, will hold a Packer rally in the town hall at La Canada, Wednesday evening, June 28, at 7:30 p. m. Attorney W. E. Evans of Glendale will be the principal speaker. Mrs. G. C. Cable and Mrs. William Herman West, both of Glendale, will give a program of music and readings. Mr. Herbert Henning, also of Glendale, will preside at the piano. Attorney Evans is a forceful and logical speaker, Mrs. Cable, Mrs. West and Mr. Henning are talented artists in their professions. Glendale should be well represented at this meeting.

REAL ESTATE SALE

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cole, of Cole and Damerell, have sold Lot 17 of the Campbell tract, between First and Milford, 250 feet north of First, to Minnie A. Murphy. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, who came to California from Kansas and have been residing ot Long Beach, will begin building a two-story, nine-room house at once.

SUNDAY SCHOOL BANQUET

The teachers and officers of the Glendale Baptist Sunday School met in the church Friday evening at a banquet given, in charge of Mrs. Robinson, superintendent of the Junior department, assisted by the girls of her department. Short talks were made on how the Sunday School was carrying out various plans and many suggestions were made to continue the further success. All who were there felt well repaid for attending.

CLUB LUNCHEON PROGRAM

The musical program for the luncheon of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which will be held in the Masonic Temple Tuesday, June 27, will be one of exceptional character. This luncheon marks the close of the year's work. Mr. F. Allemand and Miss Hazelle Hoffmann will sing a duet. Both of these artists were understudies in the California Opera Company, which has just closed its season. Miss Mellicent Virden and Julius Kranz will give violin and piano numbers. Miss J. Allen, a soprano of merit, will also sing. Among the guests will be many of the professional singers and musicians who have contributed to the various programs of the club throughout the season.

LONG BEACH WILL CELEBRATE

Long Beach is to the front again this year with a rousing Fourth of July celebration, and all Southern California is invited to be present and participate in the festivities and demonstrations.

Probably the most elaborate feature will be the Grand Carnival of States Parade. All visitors are invited to join and help swell the ranks of the old home state. There will be great rivalry among some of the states as to which one can show the greatest number of visitors to Long Beach on that day—July 3rd.

The Kiltie band, the Long Beach Municipal band, the Japanese band and other musical organizations will discourse sweet melody at just about every corner. Contests of various sorts will be staged, which added to the attractions of the surf and the "Pike" will make two very busy days.

On the 4th a grand athletic meet will be held, in which high school boys and others will participate. At the end of the regular list of events a "Greased Pig Chase" will be staged and this will undoubtedly prove of absorbing interest to spectators as well as participants.

To top the festivities a grand display of fireworks will be given on the evening of the 4th.

Many people have signified their intention of going to the beach on Saturday afternoon and spending Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday there. This is almost as good as a regular vacation, and as this is a patriotic year, why not make the most of the Fourth The hotels and apartment houses are prepared to welcome the largest Fourth of July gathering Long Beach has ever had.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Sunday; foggy along the coast; westerly winds.

FORMER GUEST FROM STATE OF OHIO RECALLS VISIT PLEASANTLY

George E. Jeffries, of Dayton, Ohio, who spent some time in this city recently, as a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Emick, Maryland street, writes to the Glendale News as follows:

Editor Glendale Evening News:

It is gratifying to one who spent some time in your beautiful city to be able to learn of what is going on there through the medium of The Glendale Evening News. I spent nearly seven months in Glendale, where my uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Emick, reside. While in Glendale I learned to appreciate, among the many other good things for which the city is famous, your excellent newspaper, The News. It is pleasant to see the paper and to learn through it of the welfare and movements of many of those whom we came to know while in Glendale. Your paper reminds us of the pleasant times we used to spend in your beautiful town, of its pleasant climate, of its foothills, of the beaches and the many other excellent features of that section of Southern California.

GEORGE E. JEFFRIES,
Dayton, Ohio.

WAR ODDITIES

Germany Bay, New Zealand, now bears the name of Takamatua Bay in belated honor of a famous Maori warrior.

Forty-five years forward from the hour France agreed to cede Alsace and Lorraine to Germany, the heaviest fighting of the war was going on between French and German before Verdun.

Argentine has instituted a censorship on telegrams, the sending of which might touch on the neutrality of the republic.

Eleven conscientious objectors to military service at Reading, Eng., were sentenced to four months' imprisonment each for refusing to undress for medical examination.

SUPERVISORAL OUTLOOK

There are four candidates in the Fifth supervisoral district now. I will print their names in the order they will appear on the roll election night. Packer, Roberts, Dodge, and Wilson. Packer will probably receive more votes than the other three combined and win at the primary. Why, because he has more friends than the trio and will have more votes. Packer is in a class by himself in this race. He was the first to announce his candidacy; Roberts the second, and Dodge butted in to the chagrin of Roberts, while Wilson's entry has created no stir. Wilson is John T. Wilson of San Fernando whom Big Bill White defeated for sheriff twelve years ago. It was suggested that Wilson was sprung by the Earl-Roberts faction to detract from Packer's big vote, but investigation proved otherwise. Wilson hopped in at the eleventh hour because he and Larry Eicholz, editor of the San Fernando Democrat, underestimated the Packer strength and the wants of the people of the valley. Packer will come down through that fertile valley from Lancaster like a great big mowing machine scattering pluralities along the line saying to the populace: "If Steve gets in, we'll save time crossing the Los Angeles river at Ivanhoe."—Los Angeles Review.

WOMAN IS CORPORAL

PETROGRAD, June 24.—"South of Mahala, one of our reconnaissance patrols severely punished the enemy, causing him great losses. The leader of the patrol was Corporal Glustchenko Tcherniawka, who, though twice wounded, brought the party safely back to our lines."—Official Communique.

Corporal Glustchenko Tcherniawka is a woman. She bears an inhuman hatred of the enemy. The Cossack patrol which she commands is noted for its fearlessness and daring—always led by her. She is known by the enemy to be a fine soldier, but wild and brutal and relentless and unpardoning. Her patrol is known as the "Eagles," because these Cossacks swoop down, do their bloody work and disappear. In this way the girl Cossack leader is avenging her father, Major Glustchenko, killed at the front several months ago. She arrived at the front in September and has since been recommended six times for decorations. Her soldiers worship her and the enemy has put a price on her head.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1916

DIFFICULTIES OF MEXICAN SITUATION

Those who have been clamoring for war with Mexico must by this time realize what has frequently been pointed out in these columns that going to war with Mexico means a long and expensive campaign and also is likely to entail the oppossition and engender the hatred of the whole of Latin America. For years past the United States has been trying to gain the goodwill and allay the suspicions of the countries of South America and of Central America, which partly through foreign intrigue have been alarmed at the movements of the United States.

Ever since the war with Spain, at the close of which the United States found itself in possession of Spanish territory, South America has been afraid of aggression on the part of the United States and has strenuously opposed every movement on the part of this country that seemed to point to ultimate intervention in Mexico. The countries of Central and South America resent North American interference with their affairs and at present with the affairs of Mexico. "It is the beginning of the end," they say. "Once let the United States overrun Mexico and not one of the other countries is safe. We are Latin republics. Our thought, our language, our ideals are widely different from those of the United States. We are Latin (French, Spanish, Portuguese); they are a hybrid race that is neither one thing nor another. We can never mix and we can never communicate except on terms that amply secure our entire independence."

Recently a leading American newspaper published a cartoon consisting of a map of the United States and Mexico, on which the Stars and Stripes extended over the United States territory and Uncle Sam was extending the stripes down through Mexico, making it all one flag. This cartoon has done an immense amount of mischief in the countries of South America and in Mexico and Central America. It has been reproduced and spread broadcast throughout those countries as the serious opinion of the United States and the official resolve of the country. Nothing can persuade these countries that the cartoon does not represent the real sentiment of official America.

One of the first results of this and other newspaper utterances in the United States has been to evoke an offer from Salvador and Costa Rica to come to the aid of Mexico should the "invasion" of that country by the Americans be carried any farther.

Altogether the situation is very delicate and at any moment may develop into actual warfare. The experiment of sending American troops into Mexico has served to show the state of unpreparedness of the United States for war. Even to make a punitive expedition into a country like Mexico would need 300,000 troops. Gen. Winfield Scott in his famous march to Mexico City needed 100,000 men. Since that time the development of rapid-fire and machine guns and magazine rifles has made 100,000 men a negligible quantity in extended warfare.

Mexico has probably at instant call 300,000 men. She has been getting ammunition from many sources, one of the chief being the United States itself. In the event of a war, however, the United States fleet would blockade the Mexican ports and ammunition supplies would be confined to those already in the country. Even then in a mountainous country an expert guerilla force such as Mexico possesses would keep a large hostile army at bay for many years. Every man, woman and child in the country would be scouts for the guerillas. They would get information of the least movement of the Americans. It took Britain with its blockading fleet, 500,000 men and three years to round up and capture 97,000 Boers. It was done at last, after Kitchener had inclosed within a 1000-mile barbed wire fence, with a blockhouse at every 100 yards, the northern part of the Transvaal. The operations with all Britain's enormous resources cost more than two billion dollars and 20,000 killed.

With the present imperfect and meager war equipment the United States possesses, what would be the war bill and the tale of death in Mexico? It would be bad enough were Mexico alone. What would it be were outsiders as is hinted to come to the aid of the Southern republic?

PROHIBITION IN GREAT BRITAIN

High prices and severe restrictions have been introduced in England to curb drinking in order that the people may have more money to spend on war. Just at present there is a bitter controversy in progress as to whether or not the country has profited by the new laws. Naturally those who advocate dry legislation say there has been a diminution of drinking; others say there has been an increase. The rigid regulation advocates and the backers of total prohibition assert that the new rules have made the country more sober; their opponents state that more liquor is being drunk now than ever.

The United Kingdom Alliance, an organization which takes neither the one side nor the other in any controversy, but devotes itself to the compilation of all sorts of social statistics which the country is supposed to be the better of knowing has finally submitted definite figures.

Before the war, says the Alliance, the saloons were open nineteen and a half hours daily—from 5 a. m. until 12:30 a. m.. At present since the drastic prohibition laws went into effect they have been open only five and a half hours daily. No intoxicants may be sold before noon; none between 2:30 and 6:30 p. m.; none after 9:30 p. m. Treating has also been strictly prohibited. These regulations are enforced energetically.

According to the United Kingdom Alliance's records drinking decreased in 1915 by 8 per cent compared with 1914, and by 10 per cent compared with the last full peace year, 1913. It is pointed out, however, that this reduction is offset by the fact that about 1,000,000 men and more—the soldiers—are out of the country. The increased percentage of reduction is attributed to the increased number of men sent abroad. Expenditures for drink have increased owing to the higher prices. In 1914 the total was something over $820,000,000 In 1915 it was about $910,000,000.

Undoubtedly both sides will feel greatly strengthened by these statistics. The prohibitionists will hold that the increase in drinking under partial prohibition is an argument for absolute prohibition. The anti-prohibitionists will maintain that it has been demonstrated that prohibition does not prohibit and that as the statistics show an increased consumption of spirits of all kinds, that infinite harm has been done to the cause of temperance by the curtailment of the use of beers and light wines, the use of which was growing in Britain before the war.

The controversy is certain to be carried on with great vigor on both sides and after the war is over and the illusions of a great campaign along with its smoke and dust have cleared away the countries of Europe will have time to deal with this important question as they will undoubtedly have lots of experience to help them in settling it.

A PETTICOAT FOR THE FILMY FROCK

The petticoat question, in this season when frocks are worn so full and diaphanous, is one that demands a little attention. Net dresses and sheer organdie ones should preserve the lacy look beneath their delicate fabric, and the customary plain muslin or nainsook petticoat, with a lace frill at the bottom, shows through so plainly that it makes an unattractive foundation for the fluffy over-material. Skirts must be airy enough, then, to keep the filmy look, yet thick enough to give an opaque foundation to the frock. Too many skirts cause both discomfort and a bulky appearance.

Here is the way one young woman solved the problem. She had a foundation petticoat made of soft white taffeta, very full. Over this were several thicknesses of coarse white curtain net, sewn to the silk just below the line of the hips, and tacked on just below the raw edges, so that no line of finish was visible. Over these layers of net two or three full skirts of fine quality net were placed, sewn into the band of the silk petticoat. This underskirt had the advantage of being full and crisp and fluffy, of being absolutely opaque, and yet of being on one skirt band, so that it was easily put on and off, and could not sag or bunch.

"YANKEE DOODLE"

Simple melodies often resemble many folk songs in different countries, and therefore it is not surprising to hear that "Yankee Doodle" has been claimed as a Hungarian song, or that its first half should closely resemble a children's song of Holland. Out of this fact come some of the absurd stories connected with its origin. Thus one journalist published the tale that "Yankee Doodle" was a Dutch harvest-song and ran—

"Yanker didel, doodle, down,
Didel, dudle, lanter,
Yankee viver, voover, vown,
Botermilk and tanther."

This is pure gibberish, and is of no known language; certainly not Dutch. I have not space to follow all the silly stories about it; one that it referred at first to Oliver Cromwell; another that it arose in Charles II.'s time; still another that Kossuth at once recognized it as Hungarian national music, etc. The facts above may suffice to tell all that is known of its history up to the revolution. Then the song was taken up by the British in sarcasm against the Yankees.

In spite of all this, the Yankees took the tune as their own. They liked its sprightliness. It began and ended the revolution. It was played by Lord Percy when he marched out of Boston to the relief of Colonel Smith and Major Pitcairn, at Lexington, whence the Americans often called it "The Lexington March"; it was played by the American bands at Yorktown, at the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. It had become American by right of conquest.—Louis C. Elson in the May Mother's Magazine.

SHAKESPEAREAN CAKE

From New Hampshire College, at Durham, N. H., comes a recipe for the kind of cake that Shakespeare ate. The following recipe is 300 years old; it improves with age and should be kept two or three weeks after cooking before being eaten. The recipe calls for two cups brown sugar, two cups honey, six egg yolks, three cups flour, 1½ teaspoons ground nutmeg, one half teaspoon allspice, one cup raisins cut fine, one half ounce citron cut in small pieces, one half ounce candied orange peel cut fine, one half pound blanched almonds coarsely chopped, whites of two eggs.

CHURCH MADE OF GRINDSTONES

At Aacony, Pa., there is a church made entirely of grindstones. More than 2500 of them were used in building the edifice, which is 87 by 43 feet. It has been estimated that about $2000 was saved by the using of these discarded grindstones instead of concrete or prepared stone.

PORK SCALLOPS

Put a layer of boiled pork chopped fine in a buttered dish, season, and add a little chopped onion. Cover with cracker crumbs. Alternate until dish is full, cover closely and bake. Remove the cover and brown. Serve with onion sauce.

HIGHEST NUMBER PROBLEM

Apropos of the problem of the greatest number that can be expressed by three figures, L. Capitaine writes to La Nature that the figures 999 may be interpreted in two different ways. They may mean the ninth power of the ninth power of nine, or they may mean nine raised to the ninth power of nine, says the New York World.

The ninth power of nine is 387,420,489. This number raised to the nines power is nothing so tremendous; any one could do the necessary calculation with a little time, as the result has only about 75 figures. But if we accept the second interpretation—nine raised to the ninth power of nine—it means that we shall have to multiply nine by itself 387,420,489 times, which is a very different thing, and the result will have 369,693,100 figures.

ONE MILLIONAIRE

"He's a millionaire, that boy is."

The boy I was walking with looked across the way at the lad of whom my words were spoken. There was certainly nothing about the latter to suggest his wealth.

"You don't say so! It can't really be so; he looks almost shabby."

"No matter for that. I live in the same block, and I know. But I did not say that he was worth a million of money."

"Oh!"

The boy who was listening looked rather disappointed. Still, he was anxious to know what the other one might have, anyhow, so he asked, "What, then?"

"He is what is called a 'millionaire of cheerfulness.' He is merry and bright the whole day long, not alone when all is sweetness and light."

UNCOVER ANCIENT WOODEN SHIP

Engineers of the New York public service commission have discovered an old wooden vessel on the Brooklyn side of a tunnel which goes under the East river. The sides of the ship were covered with barnacles, its timbers had sunk 24 feet into the mud of the river bottom, and it is thought that it must have foundered at least a hundred years ago. The ship is loaded with some kind of ore, probably either lead or tin.

Personals

Miss Merva Scott, Lomita avenue, spent Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott, of Long Beach.

Miss Mary Blackburn, of 235 Cedar street, leaves Monday for Riverside, Cal., where she will attend the Library school for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Wagnon, of 115 Orange Grove avenue, returned Friday from Venice, where they have been spending their vacation.

John M. Hunter, of 1420 Hawthorne street, has gone to Detroit, Mich., where he will spend a few months, returning about the end of the year.

Mrs. Edwin Kirby Harris, Jr., of 1632 Patterson avenue, who has been ill since June the 16th, is still confined to her bed and will not be able to sit up for about ten days.

Miss Iva F. Hunter, teacher in the Intermediate school, leaves shortly for Illinois, where she will visit relatives. On her return she expects to go to Leland-Stanford university.

R. S. Todd, 344 Glendale avenue, has rented his house to a Mr. Welsh, who is with the Kissell Kar agency at Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Todd will spend the summer at Hermosa beach, where they have a residence.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McKee, of 1418 Colorado boulevard, are entertaining at present as visitors, Mrs. McKee's sister, Mrs. E. J. Martin of Covington, Ind. Mrs. Martin is accompanied by her daughters, Elizabeth and Ruth, and three younger children. They will remain in Glendale for three months. This week they spent in seeing the Templar parades in Los Angeles.

Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Smart returned home Friday after a two weeks' vacation in San Diego and vicinity. They visited friends at San Ysidro and San Diego and attended the exposition and the State W. C. T. U. convention. While in San Diego Mrs. Smart addressed the San Diego W. C. T. U. and Mr. Smart gave a lecture in the First Methodist church of that city on "Christianity vs. Evolution."

Mrs. and Dr. Roy V. Hogue, of So. Orange street, entertained for the day, Friday, Mr. H. Austin Hatfield, of Moberly, Mo., with the forenoon trip for the flower parade in Los Angeles, then to Glendale for dinner, after which they went about the valley, by auto, and to the west coast beaches, finishing at the Knights Templar ball at Shrine auditorium. Mr. Hatfield is Grand Generalissimo of the State of Missouri and says the Glendale vicinity surpasses all expectations of California.

THE NAPKIN MARKER

The old napkin ring has been abandoned, along with toothpicks, standing dishes for celery, and other table fashions of the past. Perhaps the abolishing of the napkin ring may be traced to the man of the nonsense rhyme, who said:

"I'd like to eat my meals if it
Were not for just one thing;
I hate to roll my napkin up
And put it in the ring."

At any rate, it has gone and it has been superseded, in families where the same napkin must serve for at least two meals, by a little silver clip, looking not unlike the clip used to hold business papers together. It is a simple piece of silver, doubled over and rounded at each end, and, after the napkin is folded square, this marker is slipped across one corner of it. The upper side is engraved with the owner's initial or full name. Some of the markers show merely the large initial, in old English, with a silver clip at the back to hold it on, or shield-shaped pieces with the initial engraved in the center.

CLOUDS

The sky is full of clouds today,
And idly to and fro,
Like sheep across the pasture, they
Across the heavens go.
I hear the wind with merry noise—
Around the housetops sweep,
And dream it is the shepherd boys,
They're driving home their sheep.

The clouds move faster now; and see!
The west is red and gold.
Each sheep seems hastening to be
The first within the fold.
I watch them hurry on until
The blue is clear and deep,
And dream that far beyond the hill
The shepherds fold their sheep.

Then in the sky the trembling stars
Like little flowers shine out,
While Night puts up the shadow bars,
And darkness falls about.
I hear the shepherd wind's good-night—
"Good-night and happy sleep"—
And dream that in the east, all white,
Slumber the clouds, the sheep.

—Frank Dempster Sherman.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

There have not been the number of visitors at the Foothills this week that were anticipated during the convention of the Knights Templar. The Templars and their friends seem to have made Los Angeles their great center and the different functions in that city have kept the crowds there. Nevertheless there have been many transient visitors at the Foothills places of entertainment. Casa Verdugo had a fair contingent this week, many of whom are on their way through Southern California and the Yosemite valley.

Mrs. Yorba of Casa Verdugo went Saturday morning to Pasadena to visit her relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Case of Santa Ana were visitors at the residence of W. E. Hewitt, 728 N. Louise street, Friday. Mr. Case was formerly manager of the Santa Ana Beet Sugar Manufacturing company. The Cases are old Michigan friends of Mr. Hewitt.

IRISH NAME MEANINGS

The fact is not generally known that Ireland was the first country in modern Europe to enforce the adoption of surnames by law. The act prescribing their general use was passed more than one hundred years before the Anglo-Norman invasion, whereas surnames did not come into general use in England until the days of Queen Elizabeth, nor in Wales till late in the seventeenth century.

There are some interesting meanings attaching to the most common of Irish names. Here are a few with the curious changes of spelling that have come about since the names first originated.

Murphy came from O'Murphy, Morphey, and Morphew, meaning "superior;" Kelly came from O'Kelly, Kiely, Keeley, meaning "for war"; O'Connor from Connors, Conerty, meaning "helper"; and Dougherty from O'Doherty, Doherty, Daughaday, meaning "destroyer." It is noticeable that all Irish names at the first stage in their history had "O' " before them, the first change, consisting of dropping the "O'." It will not be necessary, therefore, to repeat the name with the "O' " before it.

Sullivan was originally Sillifant and Sullivant, meaning "quicksighted"; O'Donnell and McDonnell and all combinations of that name were Donald, Daniel, Dona, meaning "dark chief"; Moloney was O'Mullowney, Meloney, Mullany, meaning "thoughtful"; M'Cormack was O'Cormack, McCormac, McCormick, meaning "son of the crown"; Flynn was Flann, meaning "red"; Flannigan was Finnegen, meaning "Druid"; Boyle was Boylan, Boland, Bolan, Boylin, meaning "Benign"; O'Brian was Bryan, Bryant, Brines, Bryon, meaning "author"; Brady was McBrady, meaning "ship captain"; and Macauley was O'Cawley, McCawly, McAuly, McAuliff, Cawley, meaning "echo," or literally, "son of the rock."—Tit-Bits.

THE LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT

Boil hooks and eyes in strong soda water before sewing them on, and it will prevent their iron-molding in the laundry process.

To remove rings from a finger on which they have tightened, dip the finger in cold soapsuds.

Old putty can be removed without injury to the sash or glass by passing a hot soldering iron over it. The heat of the iron softens it readily and permits its removal, with little trouble, by a knife or chisel.

When marking linen with indelible ink, first write the name in with a lead pencil, then write over the pencil with the marking ink. The pencil prevents the ink from spreading.

Old stockings and socks, when cut into small pieces, make excellent stuffing for sofa cushions.

Colored cotton materials should be rinsed in water to which a tablespoon of vinegar has been added for each quart of water.

To make a polish for white paint, boil together a half ounce of white soap and half a pint of water. Then melt two ounces of white wax in soap and water, and stir. This polish can also be used for linoleum and parquetry floors.

When the steel fittings on the kitchen stove have become brown from the heat, rub them with a rag dipped in vinegar before cleaning in half a pint of turpentine, add to the the usual way.

PICTURES

Walls without pictures are like houses without windows; pictures are loopholes of escape to the mind, leading it to other scenes and spheres, as it were through the frame of an exquisite picture, where the fancy for a moment may revel, refreshed and delighted. Pictures are consolers of loneliness; they are a sweet flattery to the imagination.—Gilbert.

THE SILENT LAKE

By lone Saint Mary's silent lake;
. . . nor fen, nor sedge,
Pollute the pure lake's crystal edge;
Abrupt and sheer, the mountains sink
At once upon the level brink;
And just a trace of silver sand
Marks where the water meets the land.
Far in the mirror, bright and blue,
Each hill's huge outline you may view;
Shaggy with heath, but lonely bare,
Nor tree, nor bush, nor brake, is there,
Save where, of land, yon slender line
Bears thwart the lake the scattered pine.
Yet even this nakedness has power,
And aids the feeling of the hour:
Nor thicket, dell, copse you spy,
Where living thing concealed might lie;
Nor point retiring, hides a dell,
Where swain, or woodman lone, might dwell;
There's nothing left to fancy's guess,
You see that all is loneliness:
And silence aids—though the steep hills
Send to the lake a thousand rills;
In summer tide, so soft they weep,
The sound but lulls the ear asleep;
Your horse's hoof-tread sounds too rule,
So stilly is the solitude.

—Scott.

THE POET'S SONG

The poet does not know and he need not ask in what way he affects the world. Longfellow has told us that he found his wandering song in the heart of a friend. Emerson has told us that the sexton, ringing his church bell, knows not that Napoleon, far off among the Alps, has reined up his horse and paused to listen. The songs of the poets are sifted into the minds of men as the sunshine is sifted through the trees of the forest.—William Winter.

HOME-MADE VANILLA EXTRACT

Vanilla flavoring can be made at home quite easily. From a reliable Japanese store procure one vanilla bean and five tonquin beans. Clip the shriveled ends and drop them into a bottle with a tight glass stopper. Add 10 ounces of alcohol, three ounces of sugar, and six ounces of water. Let it stand eight weeks, with only the attention of frequent shakings. Strain, and you have pure extract of vanilla.

THE COWSLIP

Cowslips! How the children love them, and go out into the fields on sunny mornings to collect them in their little baskets . . . ! And then the white soft husks are gathered into balls, and tossed from hand to hand till they drop to pieces. Cowslip! The name is of ancient Saxon origin, and very appropriate if we consider it well. I have already said the plants remind us of flocks of cattle feeding—at first sight of sheep and lambs more particularly.—Forbes Watson.

NEW GARDENING BASKETS

Quaint, convenient little gardening baskets may now be had in some of the shops. One ordinary little square basket was prettily tinted a soft brown and was lined with a gay flowered chintz; inside were several neat little pockets which held the necessary small implements,—pruning knife, hammer, tacks, tags, twine, shears, etc. Made to match one's gardening apron and hat, these gardening baskets make attractive as well as useful additions to one's outfit.

AN ODD BREAKFAST DISH

Here is a breakfast dish that is oddly named, although it is quite matter of fact in taste. It is called Yorkshireman's Delight. Place plump sausages, pricked, in a pan. Pour over them a batter of 2 cups of flour, salt, 3 eggs and 2 cups of milk. Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven.

CLEANING SUEDE GLOVES

Suede gloves generally defy the home cleaner, and they are none too successful when handled by a professional. If only slightly soiled, they can be cleaned with art gum, which sells for 5 cents at any stationery shop. Sometimes rubbing them with a block of magnesia will do the business; or they may be washed with cornmeal or finely grated stale bread. It is unwise to use a liquid cleanser on suede gloves.

SPANISH OMELET

Brown one tablespoon of chopped onion in two tablespoons of melted butter, and add one tablespoon of flour and two tablespoons of cornstarch. Stir in one and three quarters cups of strained tomatoes, stirring until it thickens, and add a quarter teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of capers, two tablespoons of chopped mushrooms and a dash of tabasco. Beat four eggs until well mixed, add four tablespoons of water, and season with a half teaspoon of salt and pepper to taste. Cook in a buttered omelet pan. Spread part of the sauce over it, fold, and dress with the remainder of the sauce.

CHOCOLATE WHIPPED CREAM

Melt a half square of chocolate over boiling water, then add an eighth of a cup of boiling water and three tablespoons of sugar. Cook until smooth and add a half teaspoon of vanilla. Whip a half cup of heavy cream, and, when partly thickened, gradually whip in the chocolate mixture and continue to whip until stiff to the bottom of the bowl.

CONDUCT AND THOUGHT

For our conduct only to be honest we must have thoughts within us ten times loftier than our conduct.—Maeterlinck.

DECLINES TO AID CUPID

There won't be any marriages at Cleveland, Ohio, city hall so long as Harry Davis is mayor. He just won't help Mr. Cupid, that's all. Davis explained he has religious scruples against a mayor marrying couples.

"A minister ought to perform all marriages; it's more satisfactory to everybody, especially the bride," said Davis. "There hasn't been or won't be any marriages at the city hall so long as I'm mayor. I want to have an untroubled conscience when I leave office." In previous administrations marriages by the mayor were events in the dull routine of city hall life.

500 NEGROES IN OLD TIME JUBILEE

DALLAS, June 24.—"The Dallas Blues," a song just chuck full of minors; "Roll, Jordan, Roll," and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" are some of the songs 500 trained negro singers will recall to Dallas June 26, when the Southern Negro Folk Song Festival begins in an open-air theatre. With camp-meeting settings, the dusky vocalists will sing camp-meeting songs that never have been written; songs which have been handed down from ante-bellum days, while white delvers into negro folk lore have vainly tried to record them. The negroes have been training for weeks in anticipation of the festival.

Former slaves will sing the plaintive plantation melodies by which they worked in the cotton fields half a century ago and younger negroes will interpret real ragtime, the songs which musical authorities say are the root of the cabaret songs of today. The white population of Dallas will patronize the festival freely, according to the advance sales. Sections of seats are set apart for whites and negroes.
